

DR. JAY & RACHAEL BRADLEY

December 1, 2018

This is the ART HOUSE. You're not going to believe the original paintings by famous, classical artists displayed here! From Dali to Picasso, from Warhol to Chagall. And many, many paintings by renowned Santa Fe artists. Long-time collectors working with Martin Lawrence Galleries, the owners will be on hand to tell you about each one. It is an understatement that Jay Bradley collects sports memorabilia. He'll show you the autographed photo of Michael Crabtree catching "the pass" and he'll share many priceless baseball cards. You could spend all afternoon listening about his acquisitions and looking through his collections

This ranch style home was built by Maxey Construction in 1946 with several remodels since then. In the past, this house had 4 bedrooms and 4 baths. Now it has three bedrooms and an extra-large master bath and Rachel's closet, that you'll envy. The kids enjoy a playroom filled with creative toys and activities. Three notable theatre posters hang there. Rachel attended Les Misérables and Phantom of the Opera with her parents in the 80's. Each poster has signatures of the full cast. Miss Saigon, she saw in London on her senior trip in 1995. This family has a rich and warm home filled with family traditions. They carry on the tradition of filling the Christmas tree with ornaments representing the family's interests and travels collected during each year. You'll also see a wonderful collection of Menorahs, from the serious to the silly, from travels to purchases from artists to gifts from friends and family

You'll be jealous of Rachel's stylish and utilitarian kitchen. She totally deserves it. She got her cooking bug from her father. From the kitchen, you can look out back to see the landscaping improvements which open up the yard for play and entertainment.
